Welcome to the March update of the SAP Learning Hub News, keeping you up do date with the latest developments, achievements of SAP Learning Hub. Check out the SAP Learning Hub News archive if you have missed previous updates. You can also sign up for our email newsletter here to get the news delivered directly to your Inbox.

A New Experience for Our Learners

We are delighted to bring you an updated look and feel of the SAP Learning Hub homepage, designed to present a more unified learning experience for all our learners. This new experience will give you a more personalized space with all of the learning resources you need in one place, right at your fingertips.

After you log in, you will be greeted with a short introduction video, personalized learning area, and central navigation function at the top of the page. The personalized portion of the page will have your SAP Learning Hub subscription details, assigned learning content, as well as a search bar for our new content search function. The new search is designed to bring you to the content you want faster and with less filtering.

There is much more to explore, so log in, take a look around, and tell us what you think. Stay tuned for further enhancements in the coming months and to find out more, read the post in the Welcome Room.

Updated SAP Industry Cloud Learning Journey

– For subscribers of SAP Learning Hub, professional edition, SAP Learning Hub, edition for digital platforms, and SAP Learning Hub, partner edition.

The Learning Journey for SAP Industry Cloud has been updated with new content for developers and architects. Here, you will find a new structure to help you expand your skills. You'll start with an overview and then continue to some in-depth content, such as the architecture and development guidelines for SAP Industry Cloud Solutions and SAP BTP Integration and Extension Suite certification paths, to help you become competent in your chosen areas. In the 'Stay Current' area you will find the content you need to stay up-to-date and, while expanding your skills, you can now also earn openSAP badges.

Make the most of the new structure and learn how to develop and deploy innovative, vertical solutions with SAP's industry cloud.

New RISE with SAP S/4HANA Cloud Learning Journey

– For subscribers of SAP Learning Hub, edition for SAP S/4HANA Cloud, SAP Learning Hub, professional edition, and SAP Learning Hub, partner edition.

The new RISE with SAP S/4HANA Cloud, Private Edition Onboarding Fundamentals Learning Journey is now available and offers a wide range of new content and a certification path. You can start learning with a RISE with SAP introduction course, become competent with, for example, a new module specifically addressing RISE with SAP S/4HANA Cloud, private edition and enjoy some expert-led live sessions for planning strategies, and much more. Of course, you can also earn some badges along the way. There is content available for consultants, developers, architects, administrators, and business users, and will be updated with other new content in the next months, so stay tuned.
